$12.8M School Budget Proposal Compels Decisions On Educational Future

New Representative Begins Her Term

Andover's new state representative was sworn into office during an 11 a.m. ceremony yesterday at the State House.

Democrat Sue Tucker, representative for the 17th Essex district, said earlier this week that she expected the swearing-in ceremony to be "pretty exciting" for her and her fellow newly-elected officials.

Tucker said the rest of this week would probably be given to ceremonial events — including the swearing-in of Governor Dukakis today — with the House not really settling down to business until next week.

One of the first orders of business will be a training session for new representatives, she explained, which will cover the fine points of the legislative process and writing legislation.

Tucker has yet to receive her committee assignments — or an office. It may be three to four weeks before she has a State House office and her own telephone number, but in the meantime townspeople can leave messages for her at the State House by calling 722-2000. Tucker's constituents are also welcome to call her at home after 5 p.m., she said, at 475-7584.

The representative's mail can be addressed to the State House, zip code 02133, Tucker added.

Since she was elected in November, Tucker has been busy working on new legislation to be filed during the coming session. Among the most "exciting" of her efforts: joining a coalition to work on rules reform.

"We have a chance of getting some basic reforms through this year," she explained, "dealing with all-night sessions, working without a calendar, and some of the other things that have upset a lot of legislators and a lot of voters this year."

Other legislation she has filed or signed would decrease taxes on unearned income and savings accounts for senior citizens; shorten the campaign period for state office by moving the date for filing nomination papers from April to June; support weatherization programs for Massachusetts homes; place controls on telephone solicitations by computer; and continue the work on pension reform that began during the past year.

Sue Tucker

Tucker is stepping into the shoes of Democrat Gerald Cohen, who decided not to run for re-election last year after serving four terms. She bested six contenders in the Democratic primary, and defeated Republican Kimberly Cronin in the November election.

"I would like to thank the voters for the opportunity to serve them," Representative Tucker said.

"I am remembering the many, many people who helped me during the long, hot summer, and I'm looking forward to doing the best job I can to serve the people of Andover."

By John P. Sawyer

Schools Superintendent Dr. Kenneth Seifert told the school committee Tuesday night his 1983-84 budget message is not a "scare tactic," and the $12.8 million projected fiscal 1984 budget under Proposition 2½ raises important questions about the future of education in Andover.

"I don't think it's a scare tactic in any way," said Seifert, maintaining the school department owes it to the community to be "straightforward" with the facts and figures of next year's budget.

Those figures show a projected $12,824,000 FY'84 budget. With projected expenses at $2.9 million (compared with $2.2 million last year), FY'84 base salaries, not including any cost of living increase, would total $10.1 million and leave the budget $283,000 in the hole.

The figure for expenses is not hardfast — just a number to work with. But items such as insurance and tuition-out accounts are going up. And, of course, salaries are subject to negotiation. For example, a seven percent cost of living increase would bring salaries up to $10.8 million and leave the budget with a $896,000 deficit.

That, of course, assumes all staff members will be brought back next year, and as Schoolman Donald Robb noted, no one is assuming that. All staff can't be kept on, he said, but their numbers won't be decided until the expenses part of the budget and program funding is examined.

Last year, according to Seifert, the school committee made an effort to save classroom teachers from the budget ax, but this was achieved by reducing expenses to a minimum.

"I do not believe it is possible to maintain what we have (educationally)," says Seifert's written statement, adding that school committee budget decisions in the next few months will have a "profound impact" on the future of the Andover School system.

"I don't envy your position," he told schoolmen.

Seifert's message raises the following questions regarding upcoming budget deliberations: "To what extent will Andover...

Walter J. Corcoran

Elected Chamber President

Walter J. Corcoran, Waltham attorney, was recently elected as the 53rd president of the Waltham-West Suburban Chamber of Commerce.

Corcoran maintains an office at 711 Main St., Waltham, and resides in Andover with his wife, Patricia, and son, Michael.

He has been active in many area civic and community organizations for several years, including serving as president of the Jaycees (formerly known as the Junior Chamber of Commerce), the Waltham Rotary Club and the Waltham, Watertown, Newton and Weston Bar Association. Corcoran is a member of the board of directors of the Waltham Visiting Nurse Association and the Leland Home and is associated with other local organizations.

The Chamber of Commerce, which has more than 400 members, was incorporated in 1916.

Auditions For 'Revels' Scheduled

The North Parrish Choral Society will celebrate the vernal equinox in song, dance and drama with its annual "Revels" and is holding auditions and casting performers. Four performances will be given March 11, 12, 18 and 19 in North Andover. This year's "Revels" will be set at a castle in Britain with the entire cast costumed in authentic Renaissance courtly dress.

Performers may audition for a variety of solo singing parts or major dramatic roles. Singers may be part of an ensemble choir. Music will include works by Purcell, Morley, Bennett, Isaac and Byrd with a traditional consort of instruments. Court dancing will be included.

The "Revels" is supported by a grant from the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities, a state agency.

Particularly sought are bass, tenor and alto voices. Call Alix Driscoll are held Tuesday evenings at Faith Lutheran Church, Main Street (Rte. 28), Andover, at 7:45 p.m.

The PRIME ACCOUNT from ANDOVER BANK.

It's our revolutionary new approach to personal investments. Because it combines liquidity and high interest with the security of our FDIC insurance.

PRIME Interest

We guarantee a rate of interest, competitive with the money market funds, that will keep pace with the changing economic times.

Actually, because of the state income tax laws, the net yield of your Prime Account will be more attractive than the yield of a money market fund. You see, income from a Prime Account is interest, whereas income from a money market fund is a dividend. And Massachusetts taxes dividends at twice the rate it taxes savings bank interest.

You'll receive higher than money market interest rates as long as your account balance averages at least $2,500 a month.

PRIME Flexibility

Our Prime Accounts allow you to make unlimited cash withdrawals through over-the-counter transactions or our Personal Touch automatic teller machine system. You can also write up to three checks a month on the account.

PRIME Security

All deposits to a Prime Account with Andover Bank are fully insured by FDIC and DIFM.

Mahony Marks First Year As Manager

"I don't know whether to put you under Old Business or New Business," Selectmen Chairman Norma Gammon told the town manager Monday night.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony was about to celebrate his first anniversary in Andover on Tuesday, and Chairman Gammon took a moment during the board's Monday night meeting to note the occasion.

"It's been a very exciting year," the chairman said, "and a lot has been accomplished in a year. I hope we can look forward to four more years of this type of leadership."

The manager, who has a five-year contract, thanked Gammon for her remarks.

Utility Permits Approved

The Board of Selectmen began the new year with a brief agenda Monday night, and during their meeting at Town Hall they approved one permit and one new sewer connection.

The selectmen granted the Massachusetts Department of the American Legion permission to conduct its tenth annual "Walk for Youth" in town on Sunday, April 10. The town manager recommended approval, on the condition that the organizers consult the Police Department concerning the route and safety precautions.

And, acting as sewer commissioners, the board agreed to grant John McGarry permission to connect into the sanitary sewer connection at 18 Railroad St. to serve his new office building.

Meeting Warrant Is Opened

With 1983 underway, town officials will now start preparing for the annual town meeting on April 4.

Monday night, the Board of Selectmen opened the town meeting warrant for the insertion of town and private articles. The warrant will close at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 7.

Townpeople interested in inserting a private article on the warrant should contact Town Clerk Elden Salter at Town Hall for additional information.

School Bus Contracts Awarded

The school committee this week awarded bus contracts for two routes vacated by other contractors.

The school department received one bid for each of the two routes and awarded the contracts, effective until June 30, to contractor Rino Tacconi at $96.40 per day, and contractor Paul Mooradian at $98.74 per day, according to Business Manager Frank Paul.

All bus routes in town, said Paul, will be bid out again for next year's assignments.

Financial Aid Forum Planned At School

The Andover High School Guidance Department is hosting a "Financial Aid Information Night" on Monday, Jan. 10, in the West Junior High School Auditorium from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Ted Rogers, director of financial aid at Gordon College, will make a presentation and answer questions about the Massachusetts Financial Aid Form (MFAF) and financial aid in general.

Copies of the MFAF will also be distributed.

Information on local scholarships and the application procedure will be available, although local scholarships will not be discussed at this time.

Parents of juniors and seniors and/or students who plan on applying for financial aid are encouraged to attend this meeting.

To Discuss Solar Wall Collectors

Solar Wall Collectors will be the topic of the January meeting of the Merrimack Valley Solar Energy Association on Wednesday, Jan. 12, in Room L4 of the Greater Lawrence Vocational High School, 57 River Road, Andover. Room L4 is reached by driving to the right of the school, parking in the rear and entering the two-story section of the building. Solar Designer Steve Sheldon of the Tewksbury firm Multi-Structures will show slides of installations, discuss a cut-away model of a wall collector and answer questions.

Each square foot of south-facing wall in the area receives the energy equivalent of one and one half gallons of fuel oil during the heating season. Wall collectors, also known as Thermal Air Panels, can capture about one half of this energy for space heating. These collectors can be built by the do-it-yourselfer or may be purchased commercially.

The Merrimack Valley Solar Energy Association is a non-profit volunteer organization of solar consumers and business people whose purpose is to assist people in using conservation

To Head Heart Association

The Northeast Massachusetts Division of the American Heart Association recently announced the selection of Atty. Donna E. Cohen of Andover as their 1983 Campaign Chairman. Cohen is an attorney in the Boston law firm of Gilman, McLaughlin & Hanrahan. Attorney Cohen attended Andover public schools and is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and is a 1981 graduate of Suffolk University Law School.

In addition to her service to the American Heart Association, Atty. Cohen holds active membership in the American Bar Association, Boston Bar Association, Mass. Bar Association and the Association of Trial Lawyers of America. As Campaign Chairman for the American Heart Association, Atty. Cohen will oversee the selection of volunteer leadership throughout the Merrimack Valley and North Shore areas of Massachusetts. This year's Campaign goal has been set at $180,000, to be raised through the local Heart Sunday Residential Campaign, Special Events and the local Business Campaign. This year's Residential Campaign will be highlighted on February 13, Heart Sunday.

The funds contributed to the American Heart Association will enable the local Division to continue its programs of health education, community service and research support. Local residents interested in participating in the American Heart Association's Fund Raising Campaign may contact the Association's Regional office at 79 North Main Street, Andover.

Cotton Manufacturing History Traced In Slide Show

By Virginia Lopez Begg

Davy Crockett, Charles Dickens, Abraham Lincoln, "Tippecanoe" and Tyler, too. What do they have in common? They all came to visit and marvel at the city of Lowell and to see first-hand the great experiment being conducted there.

The public is invited to discover for themselves what drew these notable men to Lowell as the Andover Historical Society presents a slide show, "Cotton Manufacturing in New England," Sunday, Jan. 9, at 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. The presentation, with an admission charge of $1, will center on Lowell, but will also depict the other two great textile cities on the Merrimack, Lawrence and Manchester, N.H., whose establishment was a direct result of Lowell's success.

The story of Lowell begins in the early 1800s when Francis Cabot Lowell, a wealthy Bostonian suffering from ill health, took a gentlemanly tour of Great Britain. With native Yankee shrewdness, if somewhat dubious ethics, he memorized the jealously guarded secrets of English technology and returned home to have mechanic Paul Moody build similar machinery. The year was 1814 and the time could not have been better for the start of such an enterprise. The War of 1812 was finally over. There was an enormous pent-up demand for consumer goods like cloth which had been unavailable during the war. Newburyport families had made fortunes in shipping, but the New England shipping trade had been destroyed by the war. These wealthy families were looking for new investments. In addition, the great westward migration was increasing, creating new markets for Yankee manufacturers of all types of goods.

The first cotton manufacturing mill was built by Lowell and his associates at Waltham and proved to be such a success that, after Lowell's death in 1817, the "Boston Associates" looked for a location for what was to become the Lowell Experiment. They found it in 1821 near the sleepy farming villages of East Chelmsford. They chose this location because the Merrimack River drops 32 feet here, creating tremendous water power, the only power known at that time that was able to move the great mill wheels.

The Boston Associates, trying to avoid publicity about their plan in order to keep the price down, silently bought all the land in the area. Work proceeded rapidly and in 1823 the first loom of the new Merrimack Manufacturing Company was set in motion by master weaver Deborah Skinner.

An immediate success, the Merrimack Manufacturing Company soon spawned the creation of other mills in the new town of Lowell. By 1836 the town had become a city and had a population of 18,000, consisting mostly of the famous native Yankee mill girls who operated the machinery and immigrant Irish laborers who built the mills but were not yet hired to work inside them. The owners and financiers of the mills did not live in Lowell but in Boston, and this absentee ownership created increasing problems as the years went by.

The mill girls were an important factor in the first halcyon days of the Lowell Experiment. The Boston Associates had a thorny problem in locating a labor supply for the new mills. Unemployed men were few in the farm economy of New England 160 years ago. The lure of the West attracted most of those who did not already have their own farms or small businesses. There remained a pool of young women to whom the door of most occupations was firmly shut. The Boston Associates set up boarding houses operated mostly by impoverished widows of good character and established strict rules for behavior and church attendance. They then advertised heavily throughout the New England countryside and a throng of women responded.

At first, although the hours were very long, the work was slow-paced and fairly easy. The girls studied, attended lectures and formed a literary magazine. They were active in their churches and saved their money. It was the phenomenon of these bright and attractive young women in their sunlit, geranium-bedecked workrooms high over the sparkling Merrimack that attracted prominent visitors from all over the United States and Europe. The contrast with England's dank and disease-ridden textile cities was the marvel of the age.

The utopia did not last long, however. Pressure from the owners for increased profits caused the continual speeding up of the machines, lengthening of the work-day, assignment of additional machines to each girl and a steady decrease in wages. The Bible verses and sentimental poetry tacked at the windows became tattered and yellowed as the girls labored to keep up. Some died. Most of the rest left. By the time of the Civil War and abetted by the terrible potato famine in Ireland, the famous mill girls had mostly gone and had been replaced by Irish and French-Canadian women and men, desperate for any kind of work, even under the worst conditions.

Augmented by ever-increasing waves of immigrants, Italian, Jewish, Greek and later Hispanic, the mills of Lowell produced vast amounts of cloth through the first years of the 20th century. The labor movement, slow in starting, finally succeeded in improving conditions somewhat as the workers organized and the public's conscience was aroused.

Stained Glass Talk For Artists

Andovers Artists Guild will present Ted and Ann Traver of Andover who will give a slide presentation and demonstration of the art of stained glass Sunday, Jan. 9 at 2:30 p.m. at the Andover Bank of New England office, 84 Main St., Andover.

There is a small fee for guests.

There is a certain little shrimp that lives in the mud of desert waterholes. When the mud dries up, the shrimp shuts down almost completely until rain comes along and brings it back to life.

But the millowners did not invest their profits in repairing and improving their machinery, finding it cheaper to rebuild in the South. One by one the mills closed.

The city, however, did not die. With the advent of the high-technology industry and the establishment of the first urban national park in Lowell, the city has been reborn and flourishes today at least in part as a tribute to its past and the thousands of common people who labored there in their part of the American saga.

To find out more about this era of Merrimack Valley history, the public is invited to the slide show at the Andover Historical Society on Jan. 9. Seating is limited and is on a first-come, first-seated basis. The Andover Historical Society is a non-profit, educational institution open to both members and public. For information on open hours, exhibitions, tours, special events and membership, call the society office, open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

DCS Winter Program Set

The Department of Community Services Winter booklet was mailed to Andover homes this week. New residents who may not receive one may pick up a booklet at the DCS office in Shawsheen School. The booklet describes the wide variety of programs offered by the department.

All classes, unless otherwise specified, begin Monday, Jan. 24. Registration will be held Wednesday, Jan. 12, from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the West Junior High Auditorium and will continue each day at the department's office from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, until classes begin. Among the newer programs scheduled this winter are:

Two five-week Introduction to Computer courses will be offered at the West Junior High in Applesoft Basic Language. Monday and Wednesday evening session will cover system commands, problem analysis and their solutions, as well as flowcharting in program development.

Cathy Piazza St. Pierre will teach an oil painting class on Monday evenings at the high school. This course will acquaint the student with the basic fundamentals of color usage, form, composition, perspective and technique.

Bodywise will offer their Hustle your Muscle class on Monday and Wednesday mornings and Tuesday evenings.

Tuesday

Mothers with Careers: The Fine Art of Juggling is a six-week program beginning March 1. This evening program, designed and offered by Amy Sebell, will provide a support system for the mother who is pursuing her career goals while trying to maintain the quality of and pleasure in her homelife.

Take a common sense approach to inflation and taxes with Archie Richards' financial planning course. Participants will learn a strategy for building financial independence and how to legally avoid taxes under the new tax laws.

Wednesday

Robert Johnson will teach two separate classes at Doherty Junior High School: a singing group called The Madrigal Singers and Piano I. The Madrigal Singers will sing the popular songs of the Elizabethan era as well as some contemporary ones. Emphasis will be on singing for fun and pleasure. The Piano I class is designed for the beginning piano student. Students will learn chords, improvising and how to read music.

The Andover Historical Society, in cooperation with DCS, is offering an Introduction to Antiques course on Wednesdays

Auditions

The North Shore Players, a Danvers-based community theater group, will hold open auditions for its Showboaters chorus, Thursday, Jan. 6, at the Highland Manor, Stone Street, Danvers, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The Showboaters will be featured in a Feb. 12 production of Cabaret Night at the K of C in Danvers. Bring music selection to the auditions. Call Anita McDuffie for more information.

SALON/SALON At Sheraton Rolling Green

"We design haircuts and make-up patterns especially for your face..."

Makeup classes begin Nov. 3 from 8 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the Amos Blanchard House on Main Street. This course is an introduction to American Decorative Arts with a concentration on the evolution of furniture styles in the 17th, 18th and early 19th centuries.

Parents of toddlers can exercise together every Wednesday morning with Bodywise in a Parent-Toddler Fun and Fitness class.

Thursday

Tina Munger will teach a back to basics Algebra course designed for the student with no previous knowledge of algebra. The eight-week course will cover a review of fractions, decimals, sets, equation and inequalities, functions and their graphs.

Create a quilt or bedspread in Marion Stanwoods' Needleart Quilt or Bedspread course. Students can candlewick, cross-wich or counted cross stitch their project in this 10-week course offered at the high school.

Quilling is an ancient art of cutting and rolling strips of paper into various shapes to create lovely, decorative, filigree borders, designs or pictures. Two Quilling workshops will be held; A Valentine Workshop on Wednesday, Feb. 2, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. and a second workshop on Wednesday, March 23.

A two-evening candlewick embroidery workshop will be taught by Carolyn Mattedi on Wednesdays, March 9 and 16, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Doherty Junior High School. Candlewicking is an easy but decorative Early American needleart form of embroidery. Students will make a 12-inch pillow trimmed with ruffled eyelet.

Karen Sullivan will offer a Plant Hanger Macrame Workshop on Thursday, March 10.

There are as many reasons to get The Globe as there are days of the week.

Yes it's Sunday and you've laughed through the comics. Enjoyed Boston's best sportswriting. Pored through our magazine. Caught up on the complete regional and national stories.

Now what will you do the rest of the week? For openers, we'd suggest putting The Globe in your hands Monday so you'll know how the rest of the world spent their day of rest.

Come Tuesday, you can open a bigger business with "Business Extra." A special section devoted to the people, industries, facts and figures that make New England's business world turn.

Wednesday, you'll get a golden opportunity to cut corners with pages of money saving coupons, budget hints, recipes and all you need to serve it up right, in the Food pages.

Thursday, there's every reason to check our Calendar. With The Boston Globe's leisure magazine you'll have the complete goings on in and around Boston for the week.

You'll find "At Home" the place to be on Friday, with ideas for decorating, improving, repairing and enjoying.

Saturday has a plus all its own. "Sports Plus." The official word on the winners and the losers. Plus in-depth stories on the action on and off the field.

Ahhhhh Sunday. It wouldn't be the same without The Boston Sunday Globe.

See, just like the world, The Boston Globe doesn't stop between Sundays. Every day, The Globe provides quality, comprehensive coverage of the happenings from around the world. As well as timely features and the entertaining and informative columnists you've come to know.

We'll bring it all to you fresh each day. And that makes one more good reason to get The Globe all the days of the week.

A Family Reunion, Tears Of Joy, Highlight End Of European Tour

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Paris was beautiful and romantic; the Swiss Alps were magnificent; London's landmarks were striking. But the most memorable sight in Europe, during Theresa Fossella's summer there, was her grandmother's face — a face she had never seen before.

As a college graduation present, Theresa's parents presented her with a European tour that whirled her through London, Paris, Lucerne, and the great cities of Italy — Venice, Florence, Rome.

When the grand tour ended, the most important part of her summer began, Theresa says: She flew to the tiny Italian village of Calabria, the place where her parents were born, grew up across the street from each other, and were married.

It was, she says, like seeing photographs she had looked at since childhood "come to life. Meeting my family for the first time, to go back and look into my roots — that was the most meaningful part of the trip for me."

Theresa is the daughter of Enzo and Lina Fossella of Marie Drive, who came to this country more than 25 years ago. She spent her first years in Brockton before the family moved to Andover 14 years ago. A 1977 graduate of Andover High, Theresa graduated from Merrimack College in May with a major in business administration and management, and is currently looking for a job in marketing.

She traveled with a cousin who had just graduated from Holy Cross and her cousin's parents. After touring London, Paris, Lucerne, Venice, Pisa, Florence, Perugia, Assisi and Rome during July, they flew to Calabria, population 4,000, a farming town at the tip of the boot in southern Italy.

The trip began with a disastrous all-day delay at the airport in Rome, and when Theresa arrived at the local airport outside Calabria she was exhausted, "but I didn't care. We ran from the plane into the terminal, we were all running. First I saw my uncle, and the resemblance to my father was so strong I just couldn't believe it."

"And then I saw this little woman, and I began calling her name. It was my grandmother, who's 76, and so fragile. We just cried — it was so emotional. It was very emotional overall."

After an hour's drive up a mountainside to the village, Theresa was greeted by members of her mother's family, including an aunt and uncle who still live across the street from her father's mother. "I felt so attached to my mother's family right away," she recalls.

That night she called her parents and two sisters (Joanne, 18, and Lisa, 12) for more tearful moments over the telephone lines. "I wished we could share it all together."

During August, Theresa, who speaks Italian fluently, saw the homes where her mother and father were raised, with the two balconies where they stood and talked across the narrow street. She saw the schools they attended, and met the man who trained her father to become a tailor.

She visited the church where her parents were married in the larger, neighboring town of Catanzaro.

"Everywhere I went, people said, Oh, yes, I know your father, I know your mother. Everyone knew everyone in that town. Everyone is practically related — it's all big families."

She made a point of visiting her aunts and uncles every day, and "they appreciated that. They wanted to get to know me. And it was a nice pleasure to meet them all."

But she also made new friends of her own age, enjoying every day with them at crowded beaches along the Mediterranean, and many evenings at outdoor discos on the waterfront. (They loved her American clothes, she says — especially jeans and "alligator" shirts.) Theresa found, however, that even her young friends live life at a slower pace than she is used to.

"A walk at night is a big thing there — we did a lot of walking. And one thing I noticed is that kids there, 21 to maybe 26 years old, don't drink when they go out. They might have a beer with a pizza, but they don't abuse it like it's done in this country."

"I had to adjust to the way the lifestyle is," Theresa adds. "They live day by day and enjoy life. They take one thing at a time. Here we're so concerned about tomorrow, about what's going to happen in the future. Everyone works — work, work, work. There, everything is so much slower."

She had seen photographs of Calabria, Catanzaro and nearby Gasperina and "heard about it all my life," and Theresa found it much as she had pictured it. "There's not as much mystery now."

She was surprised, though, by the narrowness of the old streets, and the small, spare rooms in her grandmother's four-story house. "It's not like an American house at all. It's very plain, but they appreciate everything they have."

Throughout her stay, the weather was summer-perfect and the food — including lots of pasta and individual-sized pizzas — delicious (although Theresa actually lost weight, thanks to all that walking).

But the high point of the trip was the day her Uncle Zio, a priest, was made the pastor of his parish. The bishop and priests from throughout the area attended a ceremony at the village church, and during a moving moment Theresa's grandmother was called to the altar. Afterwards the family invited the entire village to a huge party.

The whole village also turned out for two colorful feast days, the feast of the Madonna and the feast of St. Innocenzo. The festive, crowded day-long events included parades and, for the Madonna, a candlelight nighttime procession through the streets.

Theresa captured every day of her three-week visit in some 500 photographs, which she has compiled into lively scrapbooks. Images of white-washed stucco buildings, olive groves, beaches, mountains, old men

During her summer visit to Italy, Theresa Fossella of Marie Drive (left) met many of her relatives for the first time, including her grandmother, Maria-Teresa Fossella, and her uncle, Carmelo ("Zio") Fossella.

Our repair policy hasn't changed; we'll still fix your phone. As long as it's one of ours.

There's good news about telephone repairs: no news.

New England Telephone lines and equipment will still be maintained at no additional charge.

How do you get repairs?

The first step is to call a New England Telephone Repair Center. If you need repairs on a home phone, call Residence Repair at 1 555-1611; if you need repairs on a business phone or phone system, call Business Repair, 1 555-1515.

Our repair people will discuss your problem with you, and determine whether it's in the phone or the line. If a simple replacement of the phone is indicated, they'll direct you to a nearby New England Telephone Service Center (formerly Bell PhoneCenters) or other locations where you can exchange your broken phone, at your convenience, for a working model. Or they'll ship a telephone to you.

Replacements will be provided subject to availability.

If a visit to your home or business by a repair technician is required, they'll schedule one for you.

What about line repairs?

New England Telephone will still make all telephone line repairs. So your service will be as dependable as ever, no matter where you buy or lease your telephones.

What if your phone isn't one of ours?

This policy hasn't changed, either. If your phone isn't leased or purchased from us, you'll have to take it back to the store where it was purchased, or determine its manufacturer's repair policy.

What's next?

A recent ruling by the Federal Communications Commission has affected how you'll get service or telephone equipment from New England Telephone.

But despite these changes, New England Telephone will still be your local company. We'll be here, working harder than ever to see you through any coming changes. And doing our best to see that you barely notice any change at all.

But to do our job right, we need to stay in touch with you. So let's talk. If you have any questions, call us on our "Let's Talk" number 1 800 555-5000. We've got the answers.

Music Program For Historians

The halls will be alive with "The Sound of Music" as the Andover Historical Society presents a program of that name on Tuesday, Jan. 11, at 9:30 a.m. as part of their morning coffee series. The presentation is free and open to the public. Enhancing the coffee will be the current exhibit, "Singing Societies and Dancing Classes: 19th Century Music."

"The Sound of Music" will feature an "historical sampler of local instrumental and vocal themes," the music earlier generations of Andover's people sang at home, prayed to in church and marched to in parades. Three speakers will describe these various aspects of music in old Andover.

Anita McDuffie, music teacher and theatrical director, will discuss early church music and play an historic cabinet organ made in London in 1800. Now owned by the society, the organ was first brought to Andover in 1836 by the bride of Edwards A. Park, a professor at the Andover Theological Seminary.

J. Everett Collins, Andover's renowned choral director, will tell of his work in the Christ Church Boys' Choir and the Andover Male Choir. Bernice Haggerty will round out the program by talking about the Kiltie Band, the Andover Brass Band and Ballardvale's choral group and summarize other features of Andover music.

Because the theme of the current exhibit relates so well to the subject of this month's morning coffee, guides will be available to discuss the exhibit. On display in various rooms throughout the Amos Blanchard House, the exhibit uses musical instruments, accessories and memorabilia to illustrate various types of music from Andover's past, such as parlor melodies, lullabies, vocal and dance tunes.

The public is invited to attend the morning coffee, tour the exhibit and hum along with Andover's historic "Sound of Music."

The Andover Historical Society is a non-profit educational institution open to both members and public. For information on open hours, exhibitions, tours, special events and membership, call the office, open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Antiques Seminar Offered

"Introduction to American Antiques" is a new 8-week course to be offered cooperatively by the Andover Historical Society and the Andover Department of Community Services (DCS) during the winter season.

Geared to the beginning collector or enthusiast, this seminar introduces a range of American decorative arts. Instructor Lissa Pendleton will emphasize furniture in particular, as she surveys antiques from the 17th through the early 19th centuries.

Registration for the course is through the DCS during their Winter registration on Wednesday, Jan. 12, 7-8 p.m. at the West Junior High School. Late registrations may be made at the DCS Office, Shawsheen School.

The 8-week course will utilize slides, lectures and examination of antiques to teach a wide variety of topics, primarily evolution of stylistic shapes, terminology, construction methods, and identification of decorative detailing. To make the course as pertinent as possible, discussion of reproductions, forgeries, restoration techniques and today's market will also be included.

The seminar will be held on Wednesdays from Jan. 26 to March 16 at 8 p.m. at the Andover Historical Society, 97 Main St.

Bresnahan Heart Fund Sector Chairman

Brian R. Bresnahan of Andover has been selected as the American Heart Association's Sector Chairman for the Greater Lawrence area. He will be responsible for overseeing the fund raising campaign in a six-community area, including Lawrence, Andover, North Andover, Methuen, North Reading and Reading.

Bresnahan is a sales representative with Air Borne Air Freight Company. He attended Andover public schools and is a graduate of the University of Rhode Island. Bresnahan is a member of the Bon Secours Hospital Men's Guild and has served as a volunteer for several organizations, including the United Way and the Special Olympics.

The 1983 campaign goal for the Lawrence area is $23,750. The major activities planned for the coming year include the Residential Heart Sunday Campaign on Feb. 13, special events and the local business campaign. Local volunteers will organize the Third Annual Businessmen's Luncheon and local business will be contacted for their support.

Aging Parent Talk At Library

A continuing discussion on "You and Your Aging Parent," sponsored by Lawrence General Hospital, Lawrence, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 10, at Memorial Hall Library, Andover.

The discussion, part of the hospital's community outreach series, will be led by Lauren Ambra, R.N., of Lawrence, continuing care nurse, and Stephen Burke, A.C.S.W., of Methuen, director of social services.

The focus will include many of the problems facing family members with increasingly dependent aging parents including financial burdening, family stress and conflict and guilt related to added responsibilities.

Burke holds degrees in social service and has had extensive experience with older patients. Ambra formerly worked in the community as a visiting nurse and has been working with elderly patients at the hospital for the past year. She has extensive knowledge of community resources.

The lecture is free and open to the public.

50's Dance

Parents Without Partners, Merrimack Valley Chapter 136, will hold a "50's" dance Saturday, Jan. 22, at 8 p.m. at the VFW, Chickerng Road, (Rte. 125) at Park Street, North Andover.

The dance is open to the public.

Morse-Barlow

Carol Ann Barlow, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Barlow, Sr. of 46 Hidden Road, Andover, and Frank Edwin Morse, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morse of 82 Bellevue Road, Squantum, were married on Oct. 9, 1982 at the First Calvary Baptist Church in Lawrence.

The Rev. Donald Dickinson officiated at the eleven o'clock ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Karen Barlow Harrison was the matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Kim Morse, Judy Komros, and Karla Keefe.

The groom's best man was Arthur Morse. Ushers were John Graziaso, Jeffrey A. Barlow, and Dr. Robert A. Barlow, Jr.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the Commodore in Beverly.

The bride is a graduate of Northeastern University and Lesley College, where she earned a graduate degree. She is employed as a special needs counselor.

Her husband, a graduate of Northeastern University, is employed as an engineer for Exxon.

Following a wedding trip to Barbados, the couple is making their home in North Plainfield, N.J.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Morse, Jr.

Chinese Cooking

Mini-Courses Offered At Hay Scales

The Hay Scales Exchange of North Andover announces the Mini-Course Series for 1983.

During January four courses will be given on a weekly basis. Six Thursdays of smocking will start Jan. 6 at the home of Sharon Hill on Lincoln Street in Andover. Bette Wasserboehr, well-known local artist, will give a series of watercolor workshops upstairs at the new Hay Scales Studio on Fridays, starting Jan. 7. Anne Pellegrino will teach toile painting on four Tuesdays, starting Jan. 11 at the Hay Scales, and Kit Cornell will give a course in cut and pierced lampshades on Jan. 20 and 27.

There are several courses which last for one morning only. Knitting leg warmers will be held Jan. 11 at the home of Janet McSweeney from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. She will provide directions and give design ideas. Denise Brown of Topsfield will give a lecture and demonstration of the craft of oriental rug making using the punch needle method on Jan. 13 at 9:45 a.m. at her home. Learn the decorative art of counted cross stitch with Ann Merrill on Jan. 20 at her home on High Street from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. Join Betsy Williams at 155 Chestnut St. for a course in beginning a herb garden on Jan. 25 from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon.

The pros and cons of a home computer will be taught by Sue and Tass Stafford on Jan. 26 at 7:30 p.m.

For more information, stop by or call the Hay Scales, 2 Johnson St., North Andover, and ask for a brochure or call Gail Morton, 11 Wethersfield Drive, Andover. Registration at the Hay Scales or by mail will continue through April.

Career Counseling On Agenda

The monthly meeting of the Andover-North Andover Newcomers Club will be held Tuesday, Jan. 11, at 7:30 p.m. at South Church, 41 Central St., Andover.

The meeting will center around two speakers who will present an outstanding as well as informative presentation on "Career Counseling." Women who are thinking about returning to the work force or making a career change will find this program helpful in making their decision. Contact Mrs. Edmund Hayes in Andover for further information.

Other Newcomers' activities this month are: Dancercise, a new addition directed by Mrs. Leonard Guarnera of North Andover; a knitting group will meet on Thursday, Jan. 20, in the evening at the home of Mrs. Mandel Berenberg of North Andover; a Mom and Tots coffee on Jan. 19 (contact Mrs. Robert Morrison) and the "Super Bowl Sunday," a couples activity, on Jan. 22 at Andover Old Colony Tennis Club. Contact Mrs. Zachary Fluhr in Andover by Jan. 15.

A trip to the Museum of Fine Arts is planned for Wednesday, Feb. 2. A bus will leave Shawsheen Plaza at 9:15 a.m. (boarding time 9 a.m.) and return at 3:15 p.m. Time will be allowed to view the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum. Cost of the trip should be sent to Mrs. John Capeless, Andover, by Jan. 28.

Christian Woman's Club Breakfast

Andover Christian Woman's Club will hold a breakfast meeting Thursday, Jan. 13, at Greater Lawrence Regional Technical School from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

A feature of the meeting will be a showing of the newest and warmest winter fashions. Holly Simons of Newburyport will present special music and the speaker will be Carolyn Chodat of Foxboro.

Free nursery is provided at the school.

Junior Gardeners To Meet

The Andover Junior Garden Club will meet at the Bay State Bank on Saturday, Jan. 8, at 10 a.m. The topic, birds and conservation, will be under the leadership of Adelaide Wright.

Guests are welcome and the club is open to students in third to sixth grades.

Annual Meeting At Church

The Ballard Vale United Church (United Methodist, United Church of Christ) will have its January annual meeting this Sunday following the 10:30 a.m. morning service of worship. Mrs. Grace Nicoll, church moderator, will preside. All members and friends of the church are urged to be present at this meeting which will act on the 1983 church current expense budget and benevolence budget and the report of the membership committee.

The Men's Club will have their breakfast meeting at 8 a.m. with Joseph Clemente as the speaker. All classes and groups of the church school will begin their regular schedule with youth and adults at 9:30 a.m. and children at 10:30 a.m. The junior high and senior youth fellowships will meet at 7 p.m.

The church will mark the first Sunday after Epiphany. The choral anthem will be "The March of the Kings." The pastor will preach on "Gifts to the Christ Child."

River Road Residents Unhappy About More Industry In Area

By Sue Aucella Deacon

There are few residents remaining in the heart of West Andover's industrial zone: perhaps 10 families.

But those who have chosen to stay are unhappy about plans for bringing new industry to River Road — especially since industrial growth may eventually lead to major changes to the roadway.

Last week, the Planning Board held an often emotional public hearing on the Tambone Corporation's plans to build a 31-acre office and research park near the intersection of Old River Road and River Road.

The hearing also included a preview of a traffic study the town manager has commissioned to show what problems the area may face in years to come, when all the West Andover land now zoned for industry is developed.

According to that study, one part of River Road may have to be widened to six lanes to accommodate increased industrial traffic.

Developer Anthony Tambone has proposed a three-lot industrial subdivision, "Andover Office and Research Park." He would like to erect four buildings totalling 300,000 square feet at the site, on a speculative basis, for multiple high-tech tenants. The buildings would be grouped around an 875-foot roadway, "Research Drive", ending in a cul-de-sac.

The developer is currently seeking planning board approval for one lot, where he would like to build the first one-story, 54,000-square foot building, suitable for more than one tenant. He indicated that construction could begin next spring or early summer.

Once that building is leased, Tambone said he would begin construction on the remaining buildings. Two would be two stories high, and one would be a single story with 80,000 square feet. The entire site would be served by town water and sewer.

Tambone is waiting for Conservation Commission approval of his plans for the site. He said he would use from 40,000 to 50,000 cubic yards of earth material to fill wetlands on the site, but would not remove any material from the site for the first two lots.

Abutters questioned drainage plans for the development, but their most serious concerns centered on the potential for increased traffic.

Tambone's traffic consultant said the proposed office park would generate 3,000 to 4,000 trips per day, with an estimated 850 vehicles entering the site from 7:30 to 8:30 a.m., and 970 vehicles leaving the site between 4 and 5 p.m. The consultant estimated that 90 percent of the traffic would head for Route 93 and the rest would turn left onto River Road.

He suggested that creating a left-turn lane leading into the site and hiring a policeman to direct traffic would help ease traffic problems created by the new office park.

But traffic consultants from Vanesse/Hangen Associates of Boston, hired by the town, offered a more drastic picture of things to come on River Road.

Robert Vanesse said there is 900,000 square feet of existing industrial development — and if all the developments that have been proposed for the area are built, within 10 to 20 years there will be a total of 5.3 million square feet of industrial space.

Consultant Frank O'Callahan explained that the 9,000 vehicles that now travel Old River Road each day would increase to 40,000 vehicles, and the average daily traffic of 12,000 vehicles per day would "approximately double."

The consultants recommended the following major changes to River Road:

- widen River Road from Shattuck Road east to the intersection of Old River Road to six lanes
- add double left-turn lanes and traffic signals at Shattuck and Old River roads, and at the two Route 93 interchanges
- extend the River Road-Route 93 bridge
- widen River Road from the intersection of Old River Road to North Street to five lanes
- reconstruct the intersection at North Street from its current Y-shape into a 90-degree angle
- add a protected left-turn lane to serve the Greater Lawrence Regional Vocational School
- and widen River Road from North Street to the Lawrence line to three lanes.

O'Callahan said he would also recommend a full interchange at Route 93.

Vanesse emphasized that his firm had come up with "an overview", adding that he had "some doubts" that all the development proposed for the next 20 years "ever would get built in that time period." The industries planning to build along River Road include Wang, Digital and GCA, and other parcels are owned by industrial developers including the Corcoran Co., Arkwright-Boston Insurance, and Prudential Insurance.

"This is one alternative," Vanesse said. "The final plan may not look like this. This is not to say that this is going to be the final answer, but to start the dialogue." The proposed changes would require approval from the Board of Selectmen and town meeting.

River Road residents objected to the prospect of land-takings to widen the road because that would devalue their property. They also objected to the idea of being surrounded by industry and increased traffic when, as one resident said, "I can't back out of my driveway now."

"I hope you think of us," John Godek told the planners. "Are you willing to throw away thirty dwellings? We're paying taxes out there, and they're as high as anywhere else in town."

Godek suggested that the land, zoned for industry during the late 1950s, could now be rezoned for residential use. "Does Andover really need all this industry?" he asked.

Community Development and Planning Director Jonathan Gilmore replied that town officials "are not ignoring your

Planners Profile Andover

By Sue Aucella Deacon

It covers 32.32 square miles and has more than 26,000 inhabitants, 5,073 students in public and 926 students in private schools, more than 8,900 housing units, 13 major manufacturing employers and a 7.6 percent unemployment rate, 16 churches and one temple, and an average annual precipitation of 39.83 inches.

It, according to a profile recently drafted by the Merrimack Valley Planning Commission, is the town of Andover.

The MVPC has developed profiles of its 15 member communities by updating community data profiles produced by the Massachusetts Department of Commerce and Development in 1978. According to a letter from the commission's senior planner, David Koven, many communities use such profiles "to inform prospective businesses, developers, or home buyers about local resources."

The commission has circulated its four-page draft survey to the town manager, selectmen, town clerk, Chamber of Commerce, Community Development and Planning department, and the Industrial Development Commission for additions and corrections.

The Board of Selectmen indicated their general satisfaction with the draft Monday night, although Gerald Silverman said he disagreed with the population figure, taken from the 1980 federal census. Silverman said he believed that figure should include Phillips Academy students, and that the town has "a higher population than indicated."

Other community leaders may not agree with another section of the report: under "recreation facilities/cultural activities", the MVPC has listed nothing.

Among the information compiled in the profile:

Andover currently has a population of 26,370 (a 1980 figure); the population was 23,653 in 1970, and is expected to rise to 28,536 by 1990. Land use density is 848 per square mile.

The town has 47 doctors and 15 dentists; a 160,000-volume library (Memorial Hall Library); 10 Protestant churches, three Catholic churches, one temple and three "other" churches; and one shopping center (Shawsheen Plaza).

With a labor force of 12,312, Andover has one 450-acre industrial park (Lowell Junction) and one 600-acre industrial park (West Andover Industrial Tech Park). The town's major manufacturing employers include Raytheon (5,400 employees), Modicon (1,100), and Gillette (800).

Of Andover's 8,905 housing units, 25 percent are rental units, and 75 percent (6,975) are single family homes.

The storm sewer system serves 75 percent of the town and sanitary sewers, 60 percent. The town water supply, from Haggetts Pond, Fish Brook and the Merrimack River, is "essentially unlimited."

And Andover's average temperature is 25.8 degrees in January, 73.7 degrees in July.

The report also includes a brief history of the town, which reveals that it was originally known as Cochicewick, an Indian name for a local brook. When the town was incorporated in 1646, the English settlers named it after Andover, England, where many of them had come from.

Samuel Phillips started industry in the town with a powder mill in 1775; that lasted 20 years. Paper was manufactured here from 1789 to 1821. The first Stevens woolen mills were started in 1813, followed by the Marland woolen mills in 1821, the Smith flax mills in 1834, and the Ballard Vale flannel mills in 1836. Tyler Rubber began operating in 1856.

Phillips Academy was founded in 1770 and Abbot Academy, "the first school exclusively for girls in this section of the country," was opened in 1829. (The two schools, of course, merged in recent years.)

The other towns profiled by the MVPC are Amesbury, Boxford, Georgetown, Groveland, Haverhill, Lawrence, Merrimac, Methuen, Newbury, Newburyport, North Andover, Rowley, Salisbury and West Newbury.

On-Street Parking Sought By Residents

The residents of Carlisle Street, a quiet street located off Haverhill Street, are seeking the same privilege residents of another Shawsheen Village street gained two years ago: to park on the street during the winter, when on-street parking is illegal throughout town.

E. Virginia and Donald O'Connor of 11 Carlisle St. and Alice O'Toole of 7 Carlisle St. Monday night told the Board of Selectmen they were recently ticketed for parking on their street overnight — even though "five other cars parked on the street didn't get ticketed," Mrs. O'Connor said, "just ours."

According to Mrs. O'Connor, Carlisle Street homeowners have had permission for overnight winter parking for "several years." She said that permission was given by former Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, and again by his successor, Jared S.A. Clark.

The O'Connors said they are the only residents on the street with a driveway, but they do not have enough room in the driveway to park all of their cars there.

The all-night parking ban is enforced because parked cars get in the way of snowplows. But Mr. O'Connor pointed out that because there are trees all along the roadway on Carlisle Street, there is not enough room for plows to drive down the street whether cars are parked there or not.

Selectmen Chairman Norma Gammon asked the residents to put their request in writing, and promised that the town manager would discuss the matter with the police department.

Selectmen William Dalton recommended that "in the meantime, we not ticket these folks."

And Town Manager Kenneth Mahony said he would also try to find out why only the O'Connor and O'Toole cars were ticketed.

The selectmen gave residents of nearby Enmore Street permission to park on the sidewalk two years ago, because residents said it would be impossible to build driveways on their street.

Gammon said that when they made that decision, the selectmen believed that no other townspeople were being allowed to park on the street or sidewalks during winter months.

Smoky Fire

No one was injured. The fire occurred on the second floor in a storage area for some of the company's products, according to Andover Deputy Fire Chief Harold Wright. Adjacent offices also received smoke and water damage. Wright said the building's sprinkler system contained the flames to one end of the structure. The cause of the fire is under investigation.

ADHERE to present diploma requirements?

PROVIDE extra-curricular activities?

SUPERVISE and monitor staff, students and resources?

PRESERVE its capital investments?

IMPLEMENT technology necessary for today and tomorrow?

IMPLEMENT alternatives?

CONTINUE to use our schools both day and night?"

Projections for 1985 and beyond look this way:

1985 — Total budget, $13,499,000; expenses, $3,132,500; salaries available, $10,366,500.

1986 — Total budget, $13,833,000; expenses, $3,383,100; salaries available, $10,449,900.

1987 — Total budget, $14,277,000; expenses, $3,753,000; salaries available, $10,524,000.

Seifert put the budget news in this backdrop: He noted that staff and students are implementing Andover's educational philosophy for a "very reasonable" amount of dollars.

He pointed out that:

Andover students have scored significantly higher than national and suburban peers.

Andover has been at the state average on per pupil expenditure for many years.

The school system has conserved 33 percent of its fuel oil and almost 19 percent of its electricity over the last two years.

Andover has an effective and efficient transportation system, with a per pupil cost well under the state average.

The school system has an effective and efficient cafeteria service, which is self-sufficient and requires no funding from the town.

The cost of school administration is average, and the administration supervises and

By John P. Sawyer

Beginning with the least flexible accounts first, the Andover School Committee began its first pass on the 1983-84 budget Tuesday night.

But while some of those accounts may be inflexible, it does not mean they are inexpensive.

A 20 percent insurance rate increase is expected next year, according to Business Manager Frank Paul, who said little can be done about it — it just draws money away from other school budget accounts.

The school committee approved $456,000 for fixed charges/insurance. The fiscal 1983 figure was $366,223, and a deficit is expected.

A total of $314,658 is requested for the programs-with-other-districts account, often called the tuition-out account. This includes special needs instruction for students who must be serviced outside of the Andover school system. The fiscal 1983 figure was $216,500, and a deficit of about $100,000 is expected.

Because figures are subject to change, monitors all functions of the school operation very closely.

The school system's highest priority is the classroom instructional program, with more resources put into this function than most of the state's school systems.

depending on the number of students to be serviced, the school committee put off a vote on the tuition-out account.

Other accounts approved on the committee's first pass were:

SCHOOL COMMITTEE ACCOUNT: $8,200 approved for 1984. Fiscal 1983 was $9,240. This includes contracted services, supplies/materials and other expenses.

LEGAL SERVICES ACCOUNT: $14,000 approved for 1984. Fiscal 1983 was $15,000. This includes labor negotiations and legal opinions.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE ACCOUNT: $5,910 approved for 1984. Fiscal 1983 was $5,910. This includes contracted services, supplies/materials and other expenses.

Auditions

The North Reading Theatre Workshop, Inc. is starting their 1983 season with auditions for their children's talent show on Friday, Jan. 14, at the Daniel H. Shay Auditorium, North Reading High School. All talented youngsters up to the age of 14 are invited to participate. Registration will begin promptly at 6:30 p.m. and there will be a registration fee. Applicants are required to bring all materials needed to perform, such as music, costumes and props.

feelings. Nobody's trying to do it in a closet," Gilmore said the selectmen would hold a full-scale public presentation on the traffic study later this month; that meeting is now scheduled for Jan. 24 at Memorial Hall Library.

But the planners added that rezoning would require town meeting approval — and past town meetings have shown little preference for residential land over industrial in West Andover.

"The fact is that the land out there is zoned industrial," planner Andrew Girdwood told the neighbors. "That's the reality — that's what you're faced with."

Specialist Forecasts Decade Of Decline In Enrollment

Schoolmen got a look at the present and the future Tuesday night.

By 1992, 800-1000 students will probably attend Andover High School, as the decline in school population continues, according to Jim Fraser, owner of the Andover firm, Concentration Specialists. Fraser has completed on a volunteer basis his own demographics study for the school committee.

That study will be used, for example, when deciding on redistricting of Doherty and West Junior High Schools, and what might happen to the Shawsheen School in the future.

As for the present, Schools Superintendent Dr. Kenneth Seifert, in his quarterly report on the school system, told committeemen there have been "no real significant surprises" in student progress, with achievement "most satisfactory" but with a reducing amount of grouping and individualized instruction this year.

Here's what both men had to say.

DEMOGRAPHICS:

In five or six years, the junior high school level will handle about 1000 students, according to Fraser. The elementary level will either level out at about 2000 students after 1988, or else the decline in population might be bottoming out now and will level out at 2,200-2,300.

He said the Doherty School's population is declining 1.4 percent faster than the West. If redistricting is considered, it will have to be done every four or five years and not on a permanent basis, according to Fraser.

Schoolman Michael Giammusso said he would like to look into redistricting of the junior high schools either this spring or a year from this spring. He also said he would like to examine the numbers at the Bancroft and West Elementary Schools.

SEIFERT:

Seifert noted scheduling problems exist in some schools, and added the consistency of student grading will be looked into. Student attendance is on target. At the end of November, the schools had used 16,000 gallons less fuel oil than last year.

Seifert said morale has been a "rollercoaster" for many reasons. He said the school system is feeling "some pinches" from cutting back budget-wise.

Registration

Newbury Junior College is conducting registration for the spring semester beginning Jan. 24.

Classes are held Monday and Wednesday evenings at the college's Keith Hall Facility, 530 Stevens St., Lowell.

Accredited associate degree programs are available in accounting, computer science, management, marketing and secretarial sciences.

Students can complete their degree requirements in two years by attending classes two evenings per week.

Selected courses in fashion merchandising, interior design and travel and tourism are also offered.

Winter/Spring Registration Set For Jan. 12

Winter/Spring Booklets are in the mail to Andover residents. Registration will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 12, at 7 p.m. in the West Jr. High Auditorium. The Winter/Spring program is beginning one month earlier this year. Unless otherwise indicated, all classes begin Jan. 24.

DCS Special Events

The Department of Community services will feature several special events during the upcoming Winter/Spring season. Unlike regular classes and workshops, special events can only be registered for at the DCS office or at the site of each program. The events are as follows:

Winter Carnival

Skating races, snow sculpturing and sledding will be a part of the Winter Carnival on Saturday, Jan. 29. Refreshments will be available at old-fashioned prices.

Floor Hockey

Registration forms are available at the DCS office for teams representing school, organizations and neighborhoods.

Ice Odyssey

The Department of Community Services is sponsoring a trip to Boston Garden on Wed., Feb. 23, to see "Disney's Great Ice

Odyssey. This musical fantasyland stars all of the favorite cartoon characters. Advanced registration required; spaces are limited.

Children's Museum

At the Children's Museum children can work on a production line, operate WKID-TV, clamber down a manhole on the street of City Slice and work a computer. Advance registration is required.

Gymnastics Meet

Specific information and registration forms for the annual competition, open to students in grades 1-6, will be available by Feb. 14 at the DCS office.

Timely Beginning

The clocks at Memorial Tower, Phillips Academy, are back in operation for the new year. The timepieces on the four sides of the tower have been inoperative for several months due to difficulty in obtaining the wooden hands, and also some of the mechanical parts. With the clock back in operation residents and visitors alike can again glance at the Andover landmark to pace their appointment schedules.

Council Is Grateful

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

The true meaning of Christmas was everywhere in Andover this holiday season. The many acts of kindness to senior citizens during the holidays could not be listed in a letter to the editor. However, the people involved deserve a special thanks.

We enjoyed Christmas parties complete with turkey dinners and all the fixin's which served over 450 seniors. These dinners were sponsored by the Andover Lodge of Elks on Dec. 12 and 19 and the Andover Council of Knights of Columbus and the St. Matthews Lodge of Masons on Dec. 18. Entertainment for these events was provided by youth members of the Andover-North Andover YMCA and the Clan MacPherson. Christmas carols and skits were merry surprises at the Senior Center and in the schools. Special thanks to the students at the Bancroft School for their hospitality and to Cub Scout Troop 102, Dens 1 and 2 for their gifts and entertainment. Students in all the Andover schools sang and visited at local nursing homes and senior gatherings.

To all of the above-mentioned, Selectman "Santa Claus" Gerry Silverman, the many anonymous givers of Christmas baskets, dinners and good cheer, and to all of you, the Andover Council on Aging extends warm wishes for a happy and healthy new year.

The Jelly Beans In Performance

Thanks To The Elks

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

On the two Sundays before Christmas we had a deeply moving experience at the Elks Lodge in Andover. "Jelly Beans," a group of 25 children from the Andover-North Andover Y.M.C.A., were asked to come and present some musical entertainment at a dinner given for the senior citizens by the Elks. We would like to express our appreciation of the generous hearts of the Andover Elks Club. Their dinner for the elder citizens, with its attendant good fellowship, offered us and the children from the "Y" a very special opportunity for togetherness of the generations. There were sparkling eyes and shining faces on young and old alike.

We thank you, Elks, for giving the children the opportunity to perform, for without an audience there is no performance. Finally, we owe a tremendous debt of gratitude to the Elks for their incredible purchase of the electric piano for "Jelly Beans" and the children at the "Y." The magnitude of the gift typifies the generosity that the Elks exhibit in their good works for young and old alike.

Cathy Dawson, program director
Josie Walker, director of "Jelly Beans"

Discovering New Frontier

To The Editor Of The Townsman:

We are Americans who have made our home in Latin America for seven years. Lately, we are seeing much distorted news about the Americas coming out of the U.S. and would like to set the record straight for Andover Townsman readers.

When we first moved to Costa Rica bag, baggage, grandmother, teenagers and pets, we spoke no Spanish and knew little about the country. But, soon, our rural neighbors accepted us and graciously taught us their language, culture, and how a city-bred family could enjoy ranch life in a foreign land. Truly, our delightful adventures there merit a book, at least!

My husband's love for the sea (Pearl Harbor survivor, retired Navy), prompted a further move two years ago, to Colombia's Caribbean coast. We found a lovely, old coconut plantation on the Pan American Highway near Santa Marta, the oldest (457 years), most fascinating city in all of the Americas.

Imagine, green palms waving in gentle ocean breezes, blue sea and sky, pounding surf and golden sand and, towering 19,000 feet over all and snow-capped the year 'round, majestic Mount Columbus. We feel we have much ... incomparable beauty, fine neighbors, perfect climate, a stable, democratic government and a satisfyingly-low cost of living.

Like Columbus, we have discovered a new frontier, with a vast potential and, being human, are driven to tell others about our dream-come-true. If you are interested in the future of the Americas ... and the Birds ... write us by international air mail (35¢ a half-ounce) at Post Office Box 5222, Santa Marta, Colombia. It may take a while, but we promise to answer.

Now, from beautiful Santa Marta, we wish you salud (health), pesetas (wealth), amor (love) and the time to enjoy them all!

Juanita Bird
(Mrs. Lewis Bird)

Thanks To Visitors

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

The residents of Academy Manor Nursing Home would like to thank all those people who came in over the Christmas holiday singing carols and just visiting.

Just watching the residents' faces one could see the joy and happiness that was spread around.

Once again "thank you" and don't hesitate to call if you would like to come in throughout the year.

Sheila Meirs
Activities Director

Where's The Cable

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

I was told that a section of Andover was to receive cable T.V. in December. This date was later changed to January. When checking further I was informed it would not be until February. From what I understand now it will not be until the spring.

This whole process of receiving cable has been in the works for over three years. I wish the cable company would give us a definite date in which the system would be turned on. From what I can understand the overhead cable has passed about 95% of the town.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

By Janet D. Lake

Registration for the next set of classes at the Senior Center—The Haven—is scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 12. Courses that require no money may be signed up for by phone; those requiring fees must be signed up for at the center, either in person or by a friend, just so long as they get the money which must be in the form of a check. No cash accepted! You will want to check the new Community Services bulletin carefully to see the interesting opportunities set up for you. Classes at the center are not restricted to senior citizens, but there is a $15 fee for those under 60. Unless otherwise noted, classes begin the week of Jan. 24.

Feeling bored? Got Januaryitis? There is room for you on the bus next Jan. 13 for the trip to the New England Center. Just what you need to give you a fresh outlook. The food is great, it's a lovely place and it will cost you only $12.50! But since it is so close, you had better get down and sign up today.

Tickets for the matinee performance of "Evita" Jan. 19 are open to anyone who wants to go. Price includes transportation to and from the theater and super orchestra seats. Total cost is $35. Take your sister, cousin, neighbor and have a great time.

If you want to receive any of the free cheese and butter being distributed by the federal government, you must sign up at The Haven by Friday—tomorrow.

It is not too early to sign up for the Hilltop Steak House trip Feb. 10. After a scrumptious luncheon (choice of menu) the group will continue on to the Peabody Mall for shopping and browsing. Transportation cost is $6, luncheon cost determined by your choice.

And a new trip has been added, too. On Feb. 15 to "Ice-Travaganza!" at Lantana's in Randolph. Yes, it is an ice show! For your luncheon you will have a choice of roast beef or broiled schrod—and all for $20! You'll love it. Sign up now.

The Haven Singers are back to spreading their special kind of joy. Yesterday and next Wednesday they will be at The Haven. The third Wednesday they cheer people up at Prescott House and the fourth Wednesday, Academy Manor. There is room for you to join the group and they would love to have you. Helen Richardson leads the group and everyone has fun.

The Jan. 11 session of the mini-clinic will be held at Chestnut Court. Appointments made through the Health Department.

Woodworking

Beginning Saturday, Jan. 8, John Ross will hold his popular series of woodworking classes at the Peabody Museum of Salem. Participants will develop an appreciation for working with wood through the use of mid-19th century woodworking tools. Projects depend upon the interests and experience of the individual.

Classes will be held on Saturdays, Jan. 8, 15, 22 and 29, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Little Red Schoolhouse behind the museum.

Pre-registration is required; limited to six persons. Materials are extra.

JACK ANDERSON and JOE SPEAR

WEEKLY SPECIAL

Taxpayers can be thanked for attorney general's cuisineBy Jack Anderson and Joe Spear

WASHINGTON -- President Reagan came up with a simple solution to the unemployment problem a few days ago when he suggested that every employer in the country hire just one additional worker. Maybe some employers, he said, could even hire more than one.

It happens that the nation's biggest single employer takes its orders from Reagan. So we checked with several federal agencies to find out if they've taken the president's message to heart.

They haven't. They've been laying off workers, not hiring them. The only exception we could find was the Labor Department, which hired 158 people in November. But most of these were replacements who were merely filling vacancies.

Spokesmen for several agencies said they thought it was a good idea to hire one additional worker. But the personnel officers said they haven't received any instructions from the White House to that effect.

We did find one Reagan stalwart who has apparently taken the president at his word. Attorney General William French Smith wants to hire a new employee. Smith would like a new assistant cook -- a "sous chef," as they say in his circle.

According to the attorney general's help-wanted notice, the new sous-chef will not only have to cut salad and stir soup. He must also know how to set the table properly for the attorney general's guests and serve the food without spilling it in the laps of the mighty.

The job won't be all glamour. The new man in the kitchen must also be proficient at washing dishes and, says the help-wanted notice, he must have "the ability to use sanitary food handling procedures."

The job will pay $6 or $7 an hour -- considerably higher than the minimum wage. The new sous-chef will share the kitchen with three other employees who are already employed to provide tasty luncheons for the attorney general.

Of course, they're all paid by the taxpayers. But we should give the attorney general a little credit. In his small way, he's helping to solve the unemployment problem.

POSITIONS WANTED: As each Congress fades into history, it leaves behind a few more ex-members who don't want to go back to the boondocks. The legislators who were left stranded by the last election are no exceptions, but some of them are having trouble finding work in Washington.

Veteran Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., is still searching for a suitable position. "It's rough out there," said an aide. "Even ex-senators are feeling the job crunch."

Some of the Republican losers are getting help from the White House. Rep. Ed Derwinski, R-Ill., for example, served for many years on the Foreign Affairs Committee. Recently, the administration found a spot for him in the State Department.

Former Rep. Eugene Atkinson, R-Pa., is an ex-Democrat who repudiated his party and joined the Republicans. This turned out to be poor political judgment, and he was retired by the voters. But the day after the election, he received a call from the White House offering to help him find a new job.

A few former lawmakers have followed the traditional path and have accepted or considered positions that will allow them to peddle their influence. A few examples:

-- Rep. Gary Lee, R-N.Y., used to serve on a House transportation subcommittee. He has been offered a job with IC Industries. One of its subsidiaries is the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad.

-- Rep. John Rousselot, R-Calif., has had some offers from Washington lobbying firms that specialize in regulatory matters.

-- Rep. Tom Railsback, R-Ill., has snapped a job handling government relations for the Motion Picture Association.

So Sen. Cannon should not fret. He will undoubtedly find a client somewhere who can use his connections. As a former member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, he knows which strings to pull to get defense contracts. In fact, he has been talking to some defense contractors about employment.

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES: All of the congressmen who retired or lost their bids for re-election were given the opportunity to take home mementos of their days in Washington. The former members are allowed to purchase the desks and chairs from their Washington office as well as the furniture and equipment from one of their district offices. It is all made available to them at bargain-basement prices.

-- Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak has taken steps to ensure that he doesn't meet the same fate as his predecessor, Anwar Sadat. Since Sadat's assassination, presidential security has been tightened in Egypt. Mubarak's guards are receiving special anti-terrorist and security training from the British. Why the British? It seems Mubarak didn't appreciate the way Sadat's CIA-trained bodyguards fled when he was shot.

Honored

The Southwestern Company of Nashville, Tennessee honored Kathy Powers of Andover, for outstanding summer achievement at the annual New England Awards Banquet held at the Hartford Marriott in Conn. Kathy is a graduate of Andover High School and is now attending Boston College in Chestnut Hill.

Southwestern, a publishing firm in business since 1868 has one of the nation's largest sales and business management programs for college students.

While in competition with thousands of students from all over the United States Kathy earned the company's coveted Century Club award for ranking in the top percentage of student dealers in personal sales.

Kitchen Design

David A. Clement, designer

Avocado and harvest gold dinette sets and breakfast nooks and color coordinated pots and pans have come and gone. Each represented a trend in kitchen decor. Today, however, if there is a trend at all, it is the customized kitchen. It is up to the individual to analyze the needs and tastes and design a kitchen that reflects those factors. As a result of this individualistic attitude, people are making permanent changes to their kitchens. For instance, kitchens are being revamped to encompass larger areas. The cook no longer wishes to be isolated from the rest of the house. The open kitchen is but one statement that a homemaker has built around an attitude.

With open kitchens offer many advantages. They are bright, save on heating bills and allow hosts and hostesses to chat with company while preparing meals. Do you have an exact picture in your mind of the ideal kitchen? Are you looking for ideas? WINDSOR KITCHENS invite you to browse thru our showroom here at 1181 Boston Rd. in Ward Hill, Mon thru Thurs 9-5:30, Fri 9-8, Sat 9-5, eves by appt. Andover Squirt A's End Slump Andover's Squirt A hockey team finally managed to put it all together as they outskated No. Andover for a 7-0 win. The team has been in the grips of its first prolonged slump of the year. Despite some flashes of fine hockey, they have not been able to sustain their efforts consistently against more experienced clubs. However, the team has managed to improve some phases of its game in the hopes of turning things around in the near future.

Goaltending has been the most impressive part of Andover's game. Despite some lopsided scores in several of their recent losses, the netminders can not be faulted. Mike Murnane and Michelle DiStefano have shared the assignment very nicely. Both have been very consistent and, at times, spectacular.

Eddie Chaisson and Michael DiStefano have been the most reliable skaters of late, managing to avoid the slump of the past several weeks and maintaining their level of excellent hockey.

Andover 7 - No. Andover 0

Andover started fast as it scored three goals in the first period; Michael DiStefano and Brian Lane, both unassisted, and Jimmy Morris from Eddie Chaisson. In the second period John Melillo converted on a pass from Bryan Smith for a 4-0 lead.

With the defense, headed by Todd Allard and Jonathan Shine, clearing out in front of the net, Andover continued to apply the pressure as the third period started. Chaisson scored Andover's fifth goal with DiStefano assisting. Kevin Smith slipped one under the goalie's pads after taking a lead pass from Smith for a 6-0 count minutes later.

The scoring was completed when Jimmy Morris scored his second goal with Gary Bleszinski assisting.

Peter Arthur played a fine game, playing all five positions for the short-handed Squirt team.

Andover 8 - Lynnfield 4

The Squirt A's have apparently rediscovered their offensive punch. The offense, which had been excellent in the early part of the season, had been non-existent in Andover's lopsided losses to Neponsett, South Boston, Chelmsford and Concord, N.H. The scoring slump appears to be over, however, as Andover scored eight times in their win over Lynnfield.

Lynnfield grabbed a quick 1-0 lead three minutes into the first period. The lead was short lived however as Eddie Chaisson broke in unassisted and blasted one past Lynnfield's goalie. The line of Bryan Smith, Michael DiStefano and Peter Arthur continued to pepper the net, but were unable to get one past the net. With one minute to go in the first period, Kevin Smith took a pass off the faceoff from John Melillo and fired one home from 20 feet for a 2-1 lead.

Junior Church League Action

By She Livermore

West Parish handed the defending champions, St. Robert's A team, their first loss of the season to remain undefeated, with an 18-13 final score. Elsewhere, St. Augustine's C toppled St. Robert's C 24-14, Ballardvale United beat St. Robert's B 14-5, St. Augustine's B overcame St. Augustine's A 12-3, Temple Emanuel squeaked out a 12-10 victory over Christ Church and South upended St. Robert's D 12-8.

West Parish 18

St. Robert's A 13

West Parish held a one-point edge at the halfway mark. In the third quarter they outscored St. Robert's A 5-2 and in the final 4-3 to win an 18-13 victory and remain in the undefeated ranks.

David Blank led the scoring for the victors with 8 points, six of them in the pivotal second half. Ty Fortuna contributed 4, Craig DerArmanian and Keith Martin each chipped in 2, and Greg Poor and David Livingston tossed in a free throw apiece.

Jeremy Gibson and Andrew Bedell tossed in 4 points apiece for St. Robert's A. Todd Green made 3 charity shots count and Jeff Foley tossed in a single bucket.

Players turning in fine performances were Ken Harvey for West Parish and Ian Timmons, Grace Perry and Tara Cocozza for St. Robert's A.

St. Augustine's C 24

St. Robert's C

St. Augustine's led by a single bucket at the end of the first quarter, however, they pumped in seven points in the second, making it 11-6, and added 13 more in the second half to win a 24-14 victory.

Sean Ryan was the high scorer with 14

Andover opened their lead to 3-1 in the second period as Gary Bleszinski beat the goalie from 30 feet out. After Lynnfield closed to 3-2, Kevin Smith, playing on left wing, took a pass from Chaisson and blasted one into the top corner to raise the lead to 4-2. Brian Lane scored just before the period ended and Andover had a comfortable 5-2 lead.

Michael DiStefano caught the top of net with a quick wrist shot as the third period started with Chaisson again assisting for a 6-2 lead. Jimmy Morris, Todd Allard and Jonathan Shine constantly broke up Lynnfield's attack in front of the goal and quickly cleared the puck to keep Andover's offense in high gear.

Chaisson scored his second unassisted goal (he also had three assists) shortly after Lynnfield narrowed the lead to 6-3 to boost Andover back to a four-goal lead. DiStefano added his second goal (three assists also) to close out Andover's scoring with just two minutes left. Mike Murnane and Michelle DiStefano once again made all the big saves in goal.

Andover 2 - Haverhill 2

Andover's defense was outstanding in this close checking game. Jonathan Shine, Jimmy Morris, Todd Allard and Brian Lane played great positional hockey, turning back Haverhill time after time. Michell DiStefano and Mike Murnane had one of their more spectacular games in net. Both stopped several point-blank attempts by the hustling Haverhill squad.

Eddie Chaisson and Michael DiStefano supplied all of Andover's offense as each managed one goal and one assist. Sean Darwin garnered an assist on Chaisson's goal.

Andover 1 - South Boston 9

Not much good came from the one-sided contest with South Boston. Andover was constantly outthrustled and outskated.

Sean Darwin managed to avoid the shutout when he slipped one under the goalie's pads with two minutes to go.

Gym Team Competes In Event

The "Twin-Town Tumblers," the girls' gymnastics team from the Andover-North Andover YMCA, competed in their first meet of the season with Voter's Gymnastics Team of Methuen. Twin-Town Tumblers were led by Monique Vallee and Meg Geddes receiving "all-around" scores of 31.1 and 31.0 respectively. At the final tally of all scores the Twin-Town Tumblers came out on top, 97.5-91.7.

Stunning performances were turned in by many girls. Top scorers in each event included: Vault: Monique Vallee and Meg Geddes (YMCA), Kathy Hennessey and Valrie Gosselin (Voters); Floor Exercise: Jodi Gallant and Jill Coon (YMCA), Kathy Hennessey and Valrie Gosselin (Voters); Uneven Bars: Monique Vallee and Meg Geddes (YMCA), Kathy Hennessey and Priscilla Berube (Voters); Balance Beam: Monique Vallee and Meg Geddes (YMCA), Kathy Hennessey and Priscilla Berube (Voters).

On Team

Elizabeth A. Kruczek, director of Athletics at Fitchburg State College, has announced the names of local athletes participating in Varsity Fall Sports.

Among these athletes is Betty Darling, a member of the Women's Varsity Basketball team at Fitchburg State College. Betty graduated from Andover High School in 1979 where she began her basketball career. This is her fourth season of play for the Falcon's and second under Coach Randy Young. Betty is an outstanding student-athlete who has achieved a President's List grade point average. Ms. Darling is also Vice President of the Women's Athletic Association, which sponsors intramurals at the college. A Senior, Betty is a Computer Science major.

Sports Nights Planned At Merrimack

The Men of Merrimack will present two sports nights for organization members next month on the Merrimack College campus.

The first sports night is scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 8 at 7:30 p.m. when the Merrimack hockey team meets Oswego in the Volpe Complex. The second sports night is slated for Thursday, Jan. 27 at 7:30 p.m. when the Merrimack basketball team meets Suffolk University in the Volpe Complex.

Chairman of the Jan. 8 event is Gerry Camuso of North Andover. Thomas Barenboim of Tewksbury is chairman of the Jan. 27 event. Walter V. Demers, Jr.

of North Andover is the president of the Men of Merrimack. Members interested in attending the sports nights should contact Camuso, Barenboim or Demers.

Squirt B Andover 1 - Danvers 8

Danvers jumped to a quick lead with a goal at the 18-second mark of the first period and continued with heavy pressure scoring its second goal. Strong defense from Kevin Lane and Ryan Moynihan kept Andover in the game. Andover was unable to capitalize on two power play opportunities as the period ended.

Heavy pressure continued as Danvers was able to score during the first half of the second period. Andover began to come alive during the second half of the period, particularly with heavy pressure from the line of Stephan Neal, Eric Martin and Joey Ligouri. In the third period, with Chris Pothier continuing to make some nice saves, Andover finally broke the shutout with Jay Coburn scoring on a rebound, assisted by John Constantini and Jay Stella, after some strong effort in front of the Danvers net.

Dartmouth won their third straight game by downing Holy Cross 24-13. Mike DeMartino had four points in the first period as the Green built up an 8-4 lead. In the second period Steve Menicis had four points for Dartmouth and Chris Hekimian had two points for Holy Cross with the score 12-6 at the end of the half. Jeff Manning and Steve Napolitano led Dartmouth in the third period as they took a 18-7 lead. Aleke Msumba got hot in the fourth period as he banged the boards for numerous rebounds and six points, but it wasn't enough as Barry Connors and David Schwind tightened up their defense to preserve the win for Dartmouth.

Boston College improved their record to 2-1 with an 18-12 win over Villanova who was missing its top scorer. Peter Kannon and Eric Guzowski led Boston College to an 8-6 first period while Bart Kalkstein, Josh Yezerski and Doug Tyler played excellently to bring Villanova to an 8-8 tie at the half. The second half saw Matt Gibson get hot from the floor and the foul line and Neil Fater play tight defense as B.C. pulled away. Jeff Leonard and Brenda Baker played a very strong game for Villanova.

In the final game of the night Harvard started out with a 12-4 first period as they defeated North Carolina by a 36-14 score. Mark Russell led the way in the first half with 14 of his 16 points while Steve Howes and Jon Pratt played tight defense. North Carolina, whose point guard was out with an injury, was led by Jeff Valcourt on offense with six points and Matt Fardy on defense. Matt Perry took over the scoring in the second half for Harvard with eight points while North Carolina was led by Scott VanFossen and Wayne Henderson.

Women Runners To Celebrate

To celebrate their first anniversary in the Merrimack Valley, the Fast Women running club will hold a birthday party at their January meeting. Prospective members are invited to attend for champagne, cake and punch.

Programs for the new year will be discussed, including a coach to instruct runners at all levels of ability.

els of ability.

Fast Women was designed to encourage and support women who run. Members meet once a month for informational lectures or films and meet other members to run with in their community. Having a running partner promotes safety and the companionship makes any run seem shorter. Members are also encouraged to join in frequent fun-runs and can purchase running gear at discount prices.

The popularity of the club has grown to include several new chapters throughout New England in the coming year.

The January meeting will be held at the Andover-North Andover YMCA, Haverhill Street, North Andover, on Tuesday, Jan. 11, at 7:30 p.m.

Gets Letter

Stacy Zeder of Andover has been awarded a varsity letter for her participation on the Brandeis University women's soccer team. It was announced by Coach Denise King.

A senior, majoring in Physics/Math, she is a resident of 8 Wintergreen Cir. and the daughter of Sheila and Abe Zeder.

The graduate of Andover High School helped lead the Judges to a record of three wins, nine losses and one tie in their third season as an intercollegiate team.

Impressive victories over Regis, Curry and Endicott highlighted a season which indicated the emerging preeminence of the Brandeis booters.

Andover Church Basketball League Intermediate "Blue" Division

South A. St. Robert E and St. Robert F are alone at the top of the Andover Church Basketball League Intermediate "Blue" Division standings, as they all registered their third straight victories last week to head into the holiday break undefeated.

South A overpowered previously unbeaten Ballardvale B, 30-12, St. Robert E trimmed Temple Emanuel, 31-23, and St. Robert F toppled West Parish B, 19-3.

In other third round action, St. Robert D slipped past Ballardvale A, 18-16, Christ B nudged St. Augustine D, 16-9, and St. Robert C throttled St. Augustine C, 30-10.

South A, 30-12

South A bolted to a 9-2 first quarter lead against Ballardvale B and were never threatened thereafter, as five different players contributed points.

Chris Eggert scored eight of his game-high 15 points in the second quarter, Steve Napolitano added 8, Jim Hendry 3, and solo buckets were scored by Steve Flanders and Bill Korohmas.

Jason Blandini led Ballardvale with 6 points, Devon Arsenault chipped in 4 and did a fine job rebounding on the defensive boards, while Bobby Nutter netted a third period fieldgoal.

St. Robert E, 31-23

Temple Emanuel hung tough for three periods, trailing the undefeated St. Robert E team 7-6 after one period, 20-13 at halftime and only 21-17 after three quarters.

But Matt Perry swished eight points in the final stanza for the victors, keying a 10-6 surge that put the game on ice.

Perry emerged as game high scorer with a personal best 19 points, Jeff Landry chipped in 6, and single baskets were notched by Erik Ancotta, Jonathan Merenda and Chris Landers.

Mike Englehart, David Jaye, Andy Greenstein and Bob Labell paced the well balanced Temple offense with 4 points apiece, Gary Witover, Mark Leinson and Adam Mazonson hooped solo buckets, and

St. Robert F, 19-3

West Parish B missing two key players was no match for the small but quick St. Robert F crew.

The winners led 4-2, 10-2 and 12-2 at the first three check points.

Kevin Murphy and Stephen Spinelli led the St. Robert attack with 6 points each. Mark Shwetz dunked 4, Jacqueline Kupa 2, and James Kaleigh swished a free throw.

Chris Gray notched all 3 points for West B, while John Hess, Fred Hohn and Jason Garland also played well.

St. Robert D, 18-16

Behind 9-4 at halftime, St. Robert D outscored Ballardvale B 8-0 in the third quarter to take a 12-9 lead, and then barely held on over the final period to gain the tight victory.

Brett Hammond tossed in 8 points for St. Robert's including six in the pivotal third quarter, Paul Salafia and Eric Hammond tossed in 4 markers apiece, while Marc Selvitelli netted a single basket.

Henry Prussman led the answering fire for Ballardvale B with 8 points, Mike Mooney added 5, Kim Lowe 2, and Andy Meckel converted a free throw.

Christ B, 16-9

Kaios Ryan and Ken Gable provided all of their team's second half offense as Christ B won a close decision over St. Augustine D.

Christ B tied 2-2 after one period, held leads of 6-3 at halftime and 10-7 after three quarters.

Ryan and Gable finished with 6 and 4 points respectively, all in the final two periods, while Matt Kelly, Dave Hughes and Bob Nash chipped in one bucket apiece.

Peter Reming notched 5 points, Chris Allard 3 and Jim LeGreta 1 for St. Augustine D, while Paul Lembo, Kevin O'Handley and Adam Brown also played well.

St. Robert C, 30-10

St. Robert C ahead 8-4 after one period, outscored St. Augustine C 16-2 in the second quarter to boost its lead to 24-6 at halftime and the rivals played fairly evenly over the last two periods.

Patrick Hayes led the balanced St. Robert's attack with 8 points, all in the second period. Scott Clements added 6, Derek Weitz 4, Tim Martin 4, Mike Hein 4, Chris Jarek 2 and David Carriere 2.

Dennis Grogan popped in 4 points for St. Augustine C, while Tom DeBenedictis, Frank Morey and Brian Rittershaus netted single fieldgoals.

Jeff D'Urso, Dennis Hamel and John Lewis contributed solid performances for St. A's.

Driscoll Stars At Bowdoin

Len Driscoll, of Andover, has been named to the 25-man all-conference squad representing the Colby-Bates-Bowdoin Football Conference.

Driscoll is a six-foot, 210-pound senior line-backer for the Bowdoin College Polar Bears, the 1982 Colby-Bates-Bowdoin Conference champion.

The Polar Bears, 4-4 overall, won the title with a 2-0 conference record. They placed 12 players on the all-conference team. Colby, 1-1 in the conference and 1-7 overall, placed six players on the team. Bates, represented by seven players on the team, was 4-4 in all games and 0-2

Ballardvale United 14

St. Robert's B 5

Ballardvale's roster features several of the best female players ever to play in the ACBL Junior Division and they are proving to be tough competition for the opposition. Ballardvale led 5-0 at the end of the half and added three more in the third quarter. St. Robert's B came back with five points in the third to narrow the gap, however, Ballardvale pumped in six more in the final to win a 14-5 victory.

Jodie Jangro led the scoring for Ballardvale with 8 points, six of them in the final quarter, and Phillip Meckel, Kim Nutter and Gary Znamierowski each chipped in two.

Greg Masse tossed in three points for St. Robert's B and Peter Landry added a single bucket.

St. Augustine's B 12

St. Augustine's A 3

St. Augustine's B lineup led 4-2 at the end of the first half. They erupted in the third quarter, pumping in eight points to win an eventual 12-3 victory.

Jeff Hurley led all scorers with 8 points, six of them in the third-quarter explosion, and John Bishop chipped in 4 for the victors.

Jamey Lionette tossed in a single bucket for St. Augustine's A and Garrett Ferris added a charity shot.

Temple Emanuel 12

Christ Church 10

Temple Emanuel held an 8-0 lead at the end of the first quarter; Christ Church came back with six in the second to narrow the gap to 8-6. Both teams tossed in single buckets in the third and final quarters, and the two-point edge at the half-way mark proved to be the factor in Temple Emanuel winning the close game 12-10.

Mark Shapiro was high scorer with 6 points, four of them in the opening barrage. Erick Greenstein chipped in 4 and David Driben added a single bucket.

Matt Grant and Noah Caruso each contributed four for Christ Church and Nicole Angelos tossed in a single bucket.

South Church 12

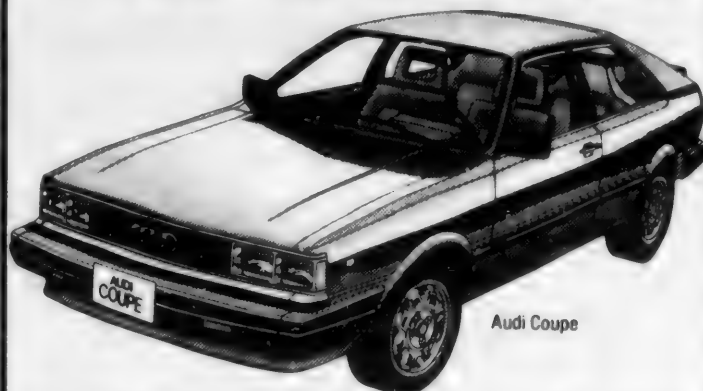

St. Robert's D 8

South led 8-4 at the end of the half-way mark and that four-point edge ultimately won them the victory over St. Robert's D

1 Matt Orlando was high scorer for South with 6 points, four of them in what proved to be the pivotal first quarter. A.J. Rimas chipped in 4 and Scott Eggert tossed in a solo.

Ryan Beal led St. Robert's D with six points and Pet Caramanis added a single bucket.

Andover Gallery Frame Shop—The Largest Selection Of Frames In Merrimack Valley

For quality framing without high prices, shop Andover Gallery Frame Shop. Located at 68 Park St. (previously at 91 North Main St.), you'll find the largest selection of frames in the area.

Anything you can think of can be framed at Andover Gallery Frame Shop. "We love unusual challenges," states owner Katherine Yezerski. So far they've had the opportunity to frame jockey silks, antique dresses, World War II metals, plants and butterflies. If it fits in a shadow box, they'll frame it. Very popular today are needlepoints, which look beautiful when framed under glass.

In response to the growing public awareness of paper conservation, Andover Gallery carries a large variety of acid-free materials with which to mat your artwork. This is necessary to preserve the value of the artwork; it eliminates the brownness of the paper which often occurs when the high acidity of the mat comes in contact with the paper.

Framing is a group project at Andover Gallery. Howard Yezerski makes all the frames for the frame shop at his home. Katherine take and processes all the orders, sends for the materials and coordinates the total framing project. Dale Atkins cuts the mats to the specific sizes and Mary Stuart Carlisle does all of the installations. They are a crew of quality craftsmen, flexible enough to do any framing job, if and when necessary.

But, most importantly, they pride themselves in their "funky humor and down to earth" personalities. They love the warm atmosphere which surrounds Andover Gallery, and are most happy when people stop by just to chat for awhile.

Howard and Katherine both teach a framing course through the Andover Recreation Department. Daily they see a growing number of their alumni stopping in to buy materials for do-it-yourself framing. It's a great way to get beautiful frames at a fraction of the cost—and it's fun, too!

Andover Gallery Frame Shop is open Tuesday through Saturday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Kitchen Place—Complete Kitchens In One Contract

The latest addition to the Andover scene is the new Kitchen Place building located at 2 Stevens Street at the corner of North Main, diagonally cross the street from McDonald's. Kitchen Place is operated by A. Leonard Seeche, president, and Tom Dunham, general manager, who between them represent more than fifty years of professional kitchen design and remodeling experience.

Kitchen Place showroom has been set up with 10 kitchen displays to help clients determine what best suits their lifestyle, living, cooking and eating habits. Shown are Rutt custom cabinets, considered to be the finest cabinets available today. At a moderate price range, there are custom cabinets made by our own factory in sizes and configuration to fit any plan. Moderately priced contemporary styling is represented by cabinets manufactured by Capri, a very well known name in quality, laminated cabinetry, and there are examples of Snaidero Kitchens, a more exclusive Italian import.

For the budget minded, Kitchen Place has chosen the Connor line of stock cabinets available in a wide range of styles and woods, a typical section of which is on display.

All of these cabinets represent an unlimited variety of woods and laminated surfaces to choose from including oak, cherry, birch, pine, walnut, elm and laminates in solid colors and wood grains.

Kitchen Place offers, free of charge, a thorough design service, working and perspective three dimensional drawings which become the property of the client when cabinets are purchased. We also contract and supervise the complete installation and remodeling of the kitchen when a client desires, including moving of walls and windows, electrical and plumbing work, flooring, ceramic tile, etc. As a service to its customers, Kitchen Place offers most of the well known appliance names (GE, Frigidaire, Kitchen Aid, Jenn Air, Thermador, Gaggenau as examples) at cost plus a small service charge thereby making even the most elaborate appliances affordable.

A call to Len or Tom at 470-0565 will bring quick action for consultation, or drop in the showroom: you will be pleasantly surprised. The showroom is open daily until 5 P.M. and Friday evening 'til 9 P.M.

$28,000 Grant Will Assist In Pole Hill Acquisition

Andover has received a $28,000 grant under the state's Self-Help Program to purchase 34 acres of land on Pole Hill for conservation and passive recreational purposes.

The news came Tuesday when Gov. Edward J. King announced the awarding of nearly $2.4 million in grants to be shared by 19 Massachusetts communities.

The grants awarded this week range from $408,000 for the town of Oak Bluffs to $10,500 for the town of Reading. The sites to be purchased range in size from 124 acres in Mashpee to 31,000 square feet in Lexington.

The state money represents a reimbursement of up to 80 percent of the cost of land acquisition. The remaining cost is paid for by the communities or, in some cases, through matching federal grants.

The site on Pole Hill in Andover enjoys 1400 feet of frontage on the Shawsheen River. The land contains numerous trails and will provide for public access to the Shawsheen River.

A plan to save Pole Hill from development was approved by town meeting in June, 1981. Selectmen in April, 1982, approved an agreement under which Arthur Kalogianis of T.D.J. Development Corp. will swap most of Pole Hill in Ballardvale for the town-owned tea lots off Woburn Street.

Kalogianis will keep enough land on Pole Hill to build 14 houses, rather than the 69-lot "Waterford Place" he had originally planned. He will also receive a $35,000 payment from Conservation Commission funds.

Ballardvale residents have been opposed to developing Pole Hill since preliminary development plans were first submitted to the planning board in the summer of 1980. The hill, traditionally used for recreation, has been called one of Andover's most beautiful areas.

Opposition to the proposed Pole Hill-tea lots swap came from residents near the South School, who stated they believed the tea lots would never be developed. The lots, 25-by 100-foot in size, were given away by a tea company many years ago after lot owners stopped paying property taxes.

Other towns receiving grants under the state's Self-Help Program were: Amherst, $32,800; Dennis, $74,447; Pepperell, $60,800; Yarmouth, $240,000; Marblehead, $117,044; Rockport, $28,800; Milton, $48,960; Mashpee, $336,000; Westford, $120,000; Rutland, $172,800; Braintree, $11,440; Taunton, $32,000; Oak Bluffs, $408,000; Lexington, $15,600; Wayland, $66,800; Reading, $10,500. Danvers ($280,000) and West Tisbury ($344,000) received Self-Help grants earlier last year.

Memorial Hall Library

Memorial Hall Library and the American Cancer Society will sponsor a Smoker's Liberation Program at the library starting Thursday, Jan. 13, at 7:30 p.m. This four-session, eight-hour seminar, which is a guided, self-help stop smoking program, provides tips and information on how to live without cigarettes. Information on the seminar, free brochures on how smoking affects your lungs and library books on cigarettes and smoking are on display in the main reading room.

Reading Groups

Two book discussion groups meet regularly at Memorial Hall Library. The Great Books Group, which meets at 7:30 p.m. on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month, will discuss Veblen's "Theory of the Leisure Class" on Tuesday, Jan. 11. The Morning Group, which meets at 10 a.m. on the third Monday of the month, will discuss "The American" by Henry James on Monday, Jan. 17. For materials or further information, contact Dorothy Sherrerd, community services librarian.

Da On Stage In Lowell

The director and designer who will help create Da, the Tony-award winning play by Hugh Leonard that will be the first production of the Merrimack Regional Theatre's fourth season, have been announced by the producing director, Daniel L. Schay. Da, a comedy about a beguiling Irish father, his son, memory, adolescence and family opens a two-and-a-half week run on Friday, Jan. 21, on Broadway Street, Lowell.

Essex, ss. In Equity
No. 82-2788

To Lawrence A. Johnston and Mary Ellen Johnston, both of Andover, in the County of Essex; Arlington Trust Company, of Lawrence, in said County of Essex; Daniel Kane, of Boston, in the County of Suffolk; Steven T. Greene, Esquire, of said Boston; and all in said Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and to all persons entitled to the benefit of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940, as amended:

Whereas, said Arlington Trust Company, claiming to be the holder of a mortgage covering real property situated on Webanki Way, in said Andover, given by said Lawrence A. Johnston and Mary Ellen Johnston, to said Arlington Trust Company, dated February 9, 1981, and registered in Essex North District Registry of Deeds, as Document No. 31627, on Certificate of Title No. 8680, Book 58, Page 325, has filed with said court a bill in equity for authority to foreclose said mortgage by entry and possession and exercise of a power of sale; If you are entitled to the benefits of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940, as amended, and you object to such foreclosure of said mortgage, you or your attorney should file a written appearance and answer in said Court at Salem, in said County of Essex, on or before the 31st day of January 1983, which day is the return day of this subpoena, or you may be forever barred from claiming such foreclosure is invalid under said Act.

Witness James P. Lynch, Jr., Esquire, Chief Justice of our Superior Court, the 23rd day of December in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eighty-two.

Course In Parenting

The Somers Trust, Psychological Associates, of 11 Chestnut St., Andover, will be offering a parenting course to parents of adolescents. This 6-session course will be held on consecutive Thursday evenings at 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. from Jan. 27 to March 17, excluding Feb. 24.

The purpose of the course is to teach parents of teenagers strategies and skills for more effective communication with and parenting of their children. It will also offer parents the opportunity to share with and learn from other parents in similar situations. Specifically, participants will learn how to deal with angry children, children with alcohol and/or drug problems, "silent" children, children with academic problems, and sexually active children. The topics of punishment, communication, differences in values between parent and child, and how children come in between the parents relationship, will also be covered.

Robert Stern, an adolescent and family therapist with the Somers Trust, will be leading the course. In addition to leading other parenting groups, he has taught courses on adolescence, interpersonal communication, assertiveness and human relations for industry, educators, and college and secondary school students. Before coming to the Somers Trust, Stern was Project Director of the Andover Peer Counseling Project, the federally funded model program

PROPERTY VALUE

"Value" is one of the words heard most often in the areas of real estate and building. "What's my home worth now?" "What's my lot worth?" "What will my home be worth five years from now?" "How much more will my home be worth if I install air conditioning?" "How much value will a garage add?" These are some of the recurring questions we hear all the time. They're fair questions, to say the least. If you're going to buy a home for, say, $55,000, you have a right to know the value of your investment.

Many factors affect the value of a home. For example, if you buy a home on the outskirts of a city, with a few miles of highway separating your place from the city limits, the directional growth of the city must be considered. If the town is growing in your direction, chances are your property value will increase, but this could depend on WHICH section of the city is going in your direction!

Point of information: Realtors can advise you on current or future value of property. But, if you require an official appraisal for legal or investment purposes, get it from a qualified Real Estate Appraiser. Not all Realtors are official appraisers.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Punchard Ave., Andover. Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

Drainage Concerns Aired At Subdivision Hearing

Definitive plans for a four-lot subdivision off Hemlock Road, in the Wild Rose Drive area, have some neighbors concerned about possible flooding and drainage problems.

During a quiet public hearing at the Essex Street theatre building last Tuesday night, Paul Marchand of Merrimack Engineers told the Planning Board that William and Carol Strout would like to subdivide their five-acre Hemlock Road property into four lots. The subdivision would include the Strout's existing home and three new houses, and would be served by town water and sewer.

Marchand called a pond located on the largest of the proposed lots "the most prominent feature of the site and the most controversial one." But the engineer maintained that if the elevation of the pond were lowered from approximately 143 feet to 140 feet, the subdivision would "in no way adversely effect drainage problems in the area.

"I'm totally convinced that this proposal can only help that particular problem," Marchand said. He added that DPW Director Robert McQuade and Town Engineer John Avery also believe changing the pond elevation will prevent future flooding.

The Conservation Commission has reviewed plans for the subdivision but has not yet issued an order of conditions. The engineer said the ConComm had "no major questions" about the development.

The Planners indicated that future owners of the lot should be responsible for maintaining the pond and keeping it at the proper elevation.

However, in response to questions from several area residents, Community Development and Planning Director Jonathan Gilmore said the town is responsible for maintaining storm drains at the site. Neighbors said drains have been clogged with debris in the past, leading to flooding.

Planner Margaret Bradshaw added that the pond should be kept deep enough to ensure that it does not become "a mud-hole."
